Purpose of This Topic

This topic explains how to enroll in a subscription program so that you can receive regular shipments of collectible items from the U.S. Mint's Online Product Catalog.

About Subscriptions

You can subscribe to series of coins and collectibles manufactured by the U.S. Mint.

- After you subscribe to a product, you will receive the next scheduled release of the product unless otherwise indicated on the web site.
- Subscriptions include only items released after you sign up. They do not include releases that pre-date your subscription enrollment date.
- Prices for subscription items may change during the course of your subscription.
- You will receive e-mail notifications 30 days prior to the shipment of your subscription order.
- You cannot skip subscription shipments, but you can return a shipment. If you refuse a shipment, your subscription will be canceled.
- You can cancel a subscription by contacting Customer Service.
- International subscriptions are not available.

Before you can subscribe to a U.S. Mint Online Catalog item, you must create an account. While creating your account, you must grant us permission to store your shipping and billing addresses by accepting our Terms of Use and Privacy Policy. If you have an account, we can provide you with handy online tools to keep your subscription information up to date.

For instructions, see the topic titled Create an Account.
